

Holiday Greetings

December 23, 2013

Dear Shareholders,

2013 has been a phenomenal year for Competitive Companies (CCI) and we have been one of the very fortunate companies in the U.S. that have managed to thrive rather than just survive.

Many would just interpret this as hard work, luck or just being in the right place at the right time. Our growing staff knows that although we could apply those conventional explanations to our 2013 success, there is something else that drives our company to excel beyond logic and conventional wisdom.

Our staff has experienced a position of unique synergism and quiet strength that is usually only found in well-established companies with much longer history than CCI. This unified experience has placed us all here at CCI in a mindset that can best be described in just one word: gratitude!

Please remember that you can stay up-to-date on company business via the website at www.cci-us.com

All the best through this Holiday Season.

Your President and CEO,

William H. Gray
CEO/President
Competitive Companies, Inc.

Forward-Looking Statement

Matters discussed in this correspondence contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform act of 1995. When used in the correspondence, the words "anticipate", "believe", "estimate", "may", "intend", "expect", and similar expressions identify such forward-looking statements. Actual results, performance or achievements by the Company and its businesses could differ materially from those contemplated, expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements contained in this correspondence. These forward-looking statements are based largely on the expectation of the Company and assumptions made by its management, which may prove to be wrong since they are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties. These risk include, but are not limited to, risks and uncertainties associated with the impact of economics, competitive and other factors affecting the Company and its operations, markets, products and prospects for sales, failure to commercialize our technology, failure of technology to perform as expected, failure to earn profits or revenues, higher costs than expected, persistent operating losses, ownership dilution, inability to repay debt, failure of acquired businesses to perform as expected, and other factors detailed in public reports filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission by Competitive Companies, Inc. the parent company of the Companies.
